On behalf of Danske Commodities, PBO is looking for an experienced Senior Legal Counsel dedicated to compliance and with an interest in further developing skills in regard to regulatory compliance within the energy industry

The job entails:

As our new Senior Legal Counsel, you will join our Compliance team responsible for managing Danske Commodities' compliance program, covering both business ethics and compliance with energy and financial regulations. We support the entire organization, locally and globally, and we collaborate closely with stakeholders from our commercial activities.

The Compliance team is part of the Legal & Compliance business unit and consists of five dedicated and motivated specialists and analysts.

We work in an informal and dynamic workspace with a great focus on teamwork, collaboration and sharing of knowledge and experience – and always with plenty of room for a good laugh.

We need your experience to help us on our journey and growth.

You have experience with regulatory matters such as competition law, financial regulations, energy regulations or equivalent. It is not a requirement that you have previously worked specifically with compliance or the energy industry, as you can still draw on your legal and regulatory background to provide valuable, hands-on support to the organization and help us navigate the changing regulatory landscape and the growing need for robust compliance.

Your areas of responsibility will include the following:

- staying updated on regulatory developments related to trading compliance, particularly REMIT, MAR, EMIR and MiFID regulations
- translating your knowledge into clear and practical advice, while driving a compliance culture through regular meetings with stakeholders from our commercial business activities
- leading and directing the review, implementation and communication of robust and globally consistent policies, guidelines and procedures

- executing compliance training for trading teams and other relevant employees across the organization
- leading and organizing risk assessments in coordination with stakeholders from across the organization – and identifying and communicating recommendations for risk mitigation
- proficient in English (fluent in written and spoken English)

In this position you report directly to Tilde Vemmelund Jensen, Compliance Officer and Manager, Head of Compliance.
